The Georgia Tech RESILIENCE Resource Group Presents:
Discovering Our SuperPowers
Open to all Georgia Tech students, faculty and staff
https://sdie.gatech.edu/resilience-employee-resource-group

The past year has taught many of us how strong we are, or how strong we need to be. Inside each of us are powers that we engage when we experience an acute shock or a chronic stressor. Our individual and collective power can help us to overcome, learn from, and gain strength through challenging times. The 2021 resilience programming is designed to help us discover and plug into our superpowers. Please join us as you are able.

The last year has had a big impact on our daily lives, likely impacting our personal, family, and work relationships. During this session, Dr. Mawuena Agbonyitor, Child and Adolescent Psychiatry specialist, will provide methods for coping with the past years events and allow us some time for introspection on how they have impacted our lives.

We invite you to join us in this discussion and leverage the expertise of Dr. Agbonyitor to get your questions answered.
